OUR STORY

At Per Borup, we are proud to be one of the few remaining jewelry houses that still produce exclusively in Denmark. In our workshop near Copenhagen, we hammer, file, solder, and saw precious metals, taking great care to create beautiful, soulful pieces of lasting quality. Our jewelry is defined by fine craftsmanship, high quality, and noble materials.

With our exclusive designs, you carry a story of a company that has shaped Danish jewelry aesthetics for more than 60 years. Today, the company is run by Per Borup's son, Kell Borup, and granddaughter, Julie Borup.

When Per Borup (1936—2012) grew up, he had no idea he would one day become a goldsmith. Almost by chance, he applied for an apprenticeship in Copenhagen in 1951, after his mother had spotted a newspaper ad. It turned out to be the best thing that ever happened to the 14-year-old boy.

Per Borup fell in love with the craft and the art of shaping precious metals into beautiful jewelry. His journeyman's piece, a complex brooch he designed himself, earned him both a diploma and a bronze medal in 1956. As an independent craftsman, he soon carried out workshop and commission work for the leading jewelers in Copenhagen, and his craftsmanship was admired far and wide.

In 1975, Per's son, Kell Borup (born 1959), began his apprenticeship in the company. For Kell, the choice of profession came naturally, having practically grown up in a goldsmith's workshop. In 1979 he completed his training and became co-owner of Per Borup.

When the company celebrated its 25th anniversary in 1987, it was marked by the launch of jewelry collections under its own name, and Per Borup Design was founded.

Since then, the collections have continued to grow, and the tradition has been carried forward—now also by the third generation. Today, Per's granddaughter, Julie Borup, plays an active role in the company, working with everything from design development and branding to customer and retailer relations. Together, Kell and Julie carry on the family's passion for jewelry and fine craftsmanship—with deep respect for their heritage and a clear eye on the future.
